Interview Questions for Statisticians (Personal and Behavioral Questions)

- Why did you apply for a job of a statistician?

- Tell us something about your previous working experience (walk us through your resume).

- Why do you want to work for us, and not for one of our competitors?

- What do you want to achieve as a statistician in our company?

- What motivates you the most in this job?

- How do you imagine a typical day in work?

- Where do you see yourself in five years time?

- What computer programs do you use in your work?

- Speaking about working as a statistician in a corporate sphere, what do you consider the most difficult aspect of the job?

- Describe a time when you had to deal with an angry or upset client (colleague).

- What are your expectations on managers, scientists, and other people you'll cooperate with?

- If we hire you for this job, what will be the first thing you'll do?

- Describe a situation when you faced a particularly demanding problem or challenge in your personal life. How did that affect you in your job?

- Imagine that you come to work, and there are no tasks assigned to you. What will you do?

- Describe a time when you made a bad prediction or analysis. Why did it happen?

- What do you consider your biggest weakness as a statistician?

- Describe a situation when you were under pressure in work. How did you cope with the pressure?

- Describe a time when you struggled to communicate something to someone in the company. How did you manage to get your message over?

Source and answers to all questions: https://interviewpenguin.com/statistician-interview-guide-ebook/